Bonum 1957 Hanok and Boutique

Bonum 1957 Hanok and Boutique is a hanok hotel in Bukchon. The Western-style building built in 1957 and the hanok building blend well with the garden that lies between them. Its unique modern interior goes well with the traditional flooring and closets, which have been preserved in their original form for many decades. For this reason, it has served as a popular filming location for TV shows.

This house was originally a European-style mansion and a silent witness to the history of modern Korea, having been used as the summerhouse of the first Korean president and the Hanjin Film Company building. Featuring a spacious garden with a 600-year-old tree, the building was opened to the public based on a “premium and private” concept and has been renovated to serve as a venue for premium events.

Oil Tank Culture Park

This ecological park was created by turning an abandoned oil reservoir, which had served the country for 41 years during Korea’s industrial era, into an eco-friendly cultural complex through a citizen-led urban renewal project. The five oil tanks have been transformed into open cultural spaces, while the T6, which is made from iron plates from dismantled tanks, has become a community space for citizens.
